

Club Meeting Assessment

Goal of Lesson: To help club leaders conduct a self-assessment of their club and determine ways to improve.

Objectives: Participants will:

- Recognize attributes of a positive club environment
- Identify strategies for improving club environment

Do the Activity

1. Give each participant three half sheets of paper and a marker.
2. Ask the group, "Assume the role of a parent visiting your club meeting for the first time. Write three words (one per sheet) describing the meeting."
3. Collect responses and post.

Share

Describe what you saw at your meeting looking at it from a different person's perspective.

Process

With the group, separate the words into positive and negative columns.
Review the descriptions.

Generalize

As a group, think of ways they could improve their club meetings.

Apply

Who has influence over the club meetings?

Rewrite the descriptions to how you'd like it to be in the future.

Developed by Diane Mack, 4-H Youth Development Specialist, NE Area